

HISTORY

DIVISION: Social Sciences

The Social Sciences Division offers courses and programs in three primary areas: the Social Sciences consisting of anthropology, economics, political science, psychology, and sociology; the Humanities consisting of: history, philosophy, and religious studies; and Education consisting of child development and education. The division also supports cross discipline programs such as gender, ethnic, multicultural studies, global studies, and social justice studies. The division offers introductory courses to students that satisfy the general education requirements for the College's associate degrees, and for both the California State University system and the University of California through the IGETC program.
