Los Angeles City Structural Welding License program is designed to take a welding trainee through the process of getting the requisite practicals for the City of Los Angeles' AWS D 1.1 Structural Welding License and preparation for the Los Angeles City proctored respective written test.

Both the practicals and the written test have to be completed and logged with the City of Los Angeles before a D 1.1 Welding License is issued. Upon successful completion of the Los Angeles City Structural Welding License program, completers will be fully prepared for the recognized professional certification – LAC D 1.1 Welding License – as the industry does not recognize welding certificates of achievement. This is considered a Career and Technical Education (CTE) program which provides students with the skills required to safely and effectively be employed as a Los Angeles City Structural Welder in public and private settings.
